THINKING

Thinking is a mental process or considering or reasoning about something. It is also considered as the process of forming an opinion about something.